#	COMMENTS FOR SESSION 3:	DATE
1	Performance evaluation is an incredibly important topic and I was very much looking forward to the session. Things I appreciated: 1) Small group size and learning about what works for team-based learning 2) There was so much learning in just watching Dr. O'Sullivan teach Things to consider changing: 1) The pre-reading was very high level and introduced new terminology for many of us. I do not believe the exercises helped solidify my knowledge in this area. Consider having less dense pre-readings with a better assessment of students' prior knowledge in this area. 2) Would have liked more on the basics of assessment and evaluation 3) My above comments may be also due to zoom fatigue and not having the energy to process on the 3rd day of the virtual platform.	1/10/2022 10:15 AM
2	I loved Dr. O'Sullivan's Zoom tricks. I liked the theory presented about assessment - it's a huge topic. Maybe a few more practical applications? Maybe even allowing us to share our own assessment systems.	1/9/2022 11:06 AM
3	Enjoyed the PBL. Reading requirement was challenging ... both in depth of knowledge and number of articles.	1/9/2022 8:29 AM
4	TBL session was a great way to learn this topic.	1/8/2022 6:33 PM
5	I appreciated Dr. O'Sullivan's modeling of TBL - much more effective at making points this way than lecturing (exs: keeping same groups, asking specifically why we didn't choose a different answer). Partner activity thinking about challenges in assessment was great - wish we'd had more time to explore what various pairs discussed - excited for happy hour plans to cover these and other topics! Also really appreciate the time set aside to reflect/write/do worksheets on our own - so helpful to think about my own context before launching back into group discussion. Speaking of discussion, some great ideas came up in chat, though sometimes I got distracted by the chat (my own fault) and missed things that were being said. Huge thanks to Shaina and Kelly for such smooth transitions in/out of breakout rooms - showing me that I need someone to help me do this during virtual teaching, rather than trying to do it myself with large groups.	1/8/2022 4:00 PM
6	I loved the TBL approach to the session - that really helped facilitate relationship building and great discussion about the topic. I do wish there was some time dedicated going through different types of assessment methods and analyzing their utility in different educational settings.	1/8/2022 3:33 PM

7	I felt much clearer about the topics as the day progressed. Very useful.	1/8/2022 3:29 PM
8	Great use of TBL and even introducing more technology. Perfect amount of information and break out into groups/time allotted to use these tools.	1/8/2022 3:20 PM
9	I found the readings for this session challenging as they seemed to be very technical and be from a very specific type of literature (aka written for PhDs in education, versus MDs assessing resident or MS learners). It made me wonder if the teacher, who is very immersed in this literature, lost sight that we are actually novices in this topic, and these very dense for beginners. We did not really discuss the history of assessment as much (so not sure we needed this article either). I think we could have focused on reading on best practices of assessment, holistic review, or focused on the optional readings of equity in assessment which is a really important topic. Also I loved the 7 step process to help with creating assessments, and yet picking a topic outside of OBGYN - which was so specific - was distracting, as I was constantly trying to figure out how I could apply this to an OBGYN assessment, and yet all I can remember is DI-SCO.	1/8/2022 3:14 PM
10	Amazing session. Love the interaction with the same group. Being in breakout sessions keeps engagement and allows for meaningful conversations.	1/8/2022 3:13 PM
11	Really enjoyed team-based learning with my group. We had excellent conversations about the material and if we finished our tasks early, we could discuss how our education role is going for us at our own institution and share tips. The group size of 4-5 struck a nice balance. If future sessions have to be virtual (ugh I sure hope not, but who knows?), I would love to continue team-based learning as it really staves off Zoom fatigue.	1/8/2022 3:12 PM
12	Great presentation, discussion, learned a lot to share w/ my program. Great ideas and opportunities to bond with group even though we are on Zoom	1/8/2022 3:07 PM
13	Really enjoyed learning about evaluation and assessment and Assessment as, for, and of Learning. I intend to use this material to ensure I am using a variety of methods to receive information on each learner. I will work on ensuring assessment literacy amongst my faculty and residents. And I intend to incorporate PBL more often with my learners.	1/8/2022 3:05 PM
14	The articles were very dense and complex! I was surprised that I was able to answer the IRAT questions! I appreciated the time during the second part of the day to think about my own assessment system.	1/8/2022 3:05 PM
15	I feel like this session was a little higher complexity than previous and I struggled to translate what we were learning from the readings into "real life." I felt like a lot of it was too lofty. As the third day on zoom, I'm starting to feel fatigued from sitting, staring at a screen. I did REALLY like having time with the same group over and over for TBL.	1/8/2022 3:03 PM
16	This session really helped me to delve into the complexities and issues with assessment of learners. I have never before thought about or evaluated our assessment strategies on such a profound level, and this was really thought-provoking. Thanks for a great session!	1/8/2022 3:03 PM
17	Such a dense topic. Really appreciated the team-based discussion and the questions were thought-provoking and great about helping better understand the pre-reading from someone else's vantage point. Some of the topics in the reading were confusing to me and these discussions helped me understand them better in a more interesting way that just reading powerpoint slides. So thank you! Also again very much appreciated the application of skills toward a problem at our institution. It has made these problems seem fixable instead of overwhelmingly impossible!	1/8/2022 3:03 PM
18	There was a lot here. I wish we had had more time to think through some of the comments in the 2nd part of the talk. Also - a little more structured discussion on the bias / equity aspect would have been helpful - maybe breakout rooms here.	1/8/2022 3:03 PM
19	Just fabulous. Loved the content and the modeling of how to do Team Based Learning.	1/8/2022 3:03 PM
20	Another excellent session!!! LOVE LOVE LOVE everything about Dr. Pat !! Wanna be like her when I grow up!	1/8/2022 3:03 PM
21	I really liked the IRAT/GRAT and TBL format. The time to work in groups and create some tangible work products/assessment tools was great. Would have loved to discuss the equity piece more at the assessment and residency selection level-- could have put more time to this part. I did find it difficult to access the articles due to paywalls. In particular, the Norcini et al.	1/8/2022 3:02 PM article was very difficult to access and I was only able to review the original . Some of the articles felt a bit dense, so talking through the main points was helpful.

22	This was great. The breakout rooms were productive and useful in sparking debate as well as creating a product that I can pull out and use down the line.	1/8/2022 3:02 PM
23	Another great session. Evaluation is a particular struggle in our institution and getting some tools to address it was very useful. Additionally, it was great to learn from colleagues given we all share very similar challenges.	1/8/2022 3:02 PM
24	I really enjoyed the discussion that was generated. It really helped me understand that there is no one way or one perfect assessment that we need to create but rather a system. This is extremely helpful to both clerkship and residency learners.	1/8/2022 3:01 PM
25	I think this is such an important topic, it could have been divided into two talks. I enjoyed working with the group. I did feel like some of the initial readings -- #2 especially of AoL AfL and AiL were really esoteric and challenging for me to digest. I wish we had a whole separate session on equity in assessment and how to address this in our field at various levels (UME and GME)	1/8/2022 2:54 PM

1	Dr. O' Sullivan is an amazing teacher and obviously a content expert. She may need a better assessment of our prior knowledge to give more relevant workshops.	1/10/2022 10:15 AM
2	If there could be 5min bathroom breaks built into every 1-1.5hrs of the session that would be really helpful!	1/8/2022 3:33 PM
3	Pivoting to virtual is hard. Thank you for all your hard work and making lemonade out of lemons. Amount of time and time for me in CST is perfect.	1/8/2022 3:20 PM
4	Thank you for all of the organizational work--makes a big difference to allow focus on learning.	1/8/2022 3:07 PM
5	thank you for clarifying why you cannot share PDF's. It does put ASL learners at a disadvantage if they cannot access the articles. I am at an academic institution and did not have half of the journals available to me. I will contact my librarian in advance next time. Would be helpful before next session to get a reminder to perform this task. Thank you for creating the portal and happy our times for us!	1/8/2022 3:05 PM
6	There are a lot of important conversations going on in the chat. I am not sure how to capture this or allow for some discussion time outloud. I sometimes feel like I am distracted from the session but also don't want to miss the conversation in the chat.	1/8/2022 3:05 PM
7	Happy hours are a really good idea and I'm hoping we could consider twice per month until March so that we can connect, continue to network and have discussions. Most of us really want and need that time to discuss with other enthusiastic educators.	1/8/2022 3:03 PM
8	Feeling so privileged to be a part of this.	1/8/2022 3:03 PM
9	Would be so great if all these worksheets and exercises that we work on daily can be compiled and linked under that day in the syllabus or encourage people to share theirs in the chat right after the breakout because for example, I would love to see the various assessment paradigms that groups developed for the milestones and would help me not recreate the wheel.	1/8/2022 3:02 PM
